

On course with the Captain

Honouring our heritage. Building for tomorrow

Leadership is about respecting the legacy we have inherited while having the vision and determination to prepare for the future. As I assumed the responsibility of Captain of Bangalore Golf Club, my vision was clear - to strengthen our infrastructure, embrace sustainability, enhance the golfing experience, and take BGC confidently into the digital era.

I am pleased to share that we have made significant progress across each of these priorities.

Investing in the Future of Our Golf Course

The golf course remains at the heart of everything we do at BGC, and its continued development is therefore a key priority.

- To secure our future course turf requirements, 1.15 acres of land has been taken on lease at Hesaraghatta to serve as a dedicated source of grass for our course, which will be relayed shortly. This will provide the Club with a dedicated source of grass and greater self-sufficiency in meeting its future course maintenance and development needs.
- A dedicated greens nursery is also being developed near the 7th tee box, enabling us to grow and maintain grass specifically for future greens requirements. This is an important investment that will support the quality and sustainability of our greens over the long term.
- In addition, extension work on the 5th and 11th tees has been completed, further improving the playing experience and course infrastructure.
- Design work has also commenced on repairing and restoring the towers on the 8th fairway, which were devastated by the unprecedented storm in March of this year.

Strengthening Infrastructure & Sustainability

We would like to place on record our sincere appreciation for the excellent support extended by the Public Works Department, in helping us secure the necessary approvals for our critical infrastructure projects. This has enabled us to move forward with five important infrastructure initiatives that are central to the Club's development and future readiness.

- Construction of a state-of-the-art Sewage Treatment Plant (STP).
- Installation of a rooftop Solar Power System on the New Clubhouse.
- Comprehensive Golf Course relaying works.
- Construction of dedicated staff restrooms at the workshop.
- Design and planning for the renovation of Pudy's Bar.

These projects represent a significant investment in the Club's infrastructure and, importantly, in its long-term sustainability. The STP and solar power initiatives, in particular, reflect our commitment to adopting more environmentally responsible practices and reducing our dependence on conventional resources.

Embracing the Digital Era

As a Club with a rich history and a proud legacy, it is important that BGC remains connected not only with its members but also with the wider golfing community.

We have therefore embarked on a comprehensive digital transformation. High-definition LED screens have been installed across the Clubhouse to provide members with real-time information and updates. At the same time, we have revitalised BGC's social media presence, enabling us to showcase the Club's heritage, events, achievements and premier tournaments to a much wider, global audience.

This is an important step towards making BGC more contemporary and connected while preserving the character and traditions that make our Club special.

Enhancing the Member Experience

Our focus is not restricted to infrastructure alone. We are equally conscious of the need to make the Club more accessible and comfortable for our members.

As part of this effort, five new golf buggies have been added to our fleet - four two-seater buggies and one four-seater buggy. This will particularly benefit our senior members and those who require greater convenience while playing the course.

Looking Ahead

All these initiatives have one common objective - to ensure that Bangalore Golf Club continues to evolve without losing sight of the heritage and traditions that have defined it for generations.

The journey ahead is exciting. Some projects are already completed, others are underway, and several more are moving through the planning and design stages. Their successful execution will require continued cooperation and support from the Committee, staff and, most importantly, our members.

I would like to place on record my heart-felt appreciation to the Managing Committee for its unwavering support, collective commitment and willingness to take difficult decisions in the larger interest of the Club. I would also like to thank our dedicated staff and all our members whose cooperation, encouragement and participation have contributed significantly to the progress of these initiatives.

Here's to preserving what makes BGC special, and building an even stronger Club for the future.

Warm regards,
Anand Srinivasan

Members of Distinction

Celebrating members whose achievements, passion and contribution have enriched Bangalore Golf Club.

VIGNESH HEBBAR

A Golfer, A Competitor, A Contributor

For Vignesh Hebbar, golf began as a sport and a hobby in 2009. What started as a pastime soon evolved into a deep and enduring passion for the game, one that has taken him across golf courses in India and overseas, brought him more than 120 tournament victories, and earned him an impressive 21 Open titles.

A Permanent Associate Member of our club since 2010, Vignesh quickly established himself as a serious golfer, becoming a single-handicapper within just two years. He is also a member of Jayachamarajendra Wodeyar Golf Club (JWGC), Mysore, Mercara Downs Golf Club (MDGC), Coorg.

His competitive record is particularly noteworthy. Vignesh has represented BGC in inter-club tournaments every year since 2014 and has been part of some memorable victories for the Club, including the much-celebrated wins against KGA at KGA and MGC at MGC, Chennai. He is also a proud holder of the coveted BGC Green Jacket.

But Vignesh's contribution to golf at BGC extends well beyond his achievements on the course. He has been actively involved in the Club's affairs since 2016, serving on several sub-committees, including Entertainment, Tournament, IT and the Special Advisory Committee. He has also been part of the organising committee of the Bangalore Golf League (BGL) for the past five years. His association with the BGL has been particularly significant. He captained the Morado Masters for seven consecutive seasons in the Bangalore Golf League, leading the team to a runner-up finish in the inaugural edition.

He served as Tournament Chairman and was part of the organising committee of the Women's Golf League (WGL) for two years, successfully overseeing its Auction and Draft processes. His involvement has extended to shaping the framework of competitive golf as well, including contributing to the drafting of the SOPs for the Tournaments Portfolio and the Terms of Competition for the BGL.

Vignesh is also a familiar voice and face at BGC's major events. With a natural flair for communication and presentation, he has anchored numerous signature occasions, including tournament prize distributions, the Governor's Cup, Diwali and Rajyotsava celebrations, and New Year events. He had the special honour of anchoring BGC's landmark Sesquicentennial Celebrations in the presence of the Hon'ble Chief Minister of Karnataka. More recently, he successfully conducted live commentary for BGL 6.0, with the enthusiastic support and participation of fellow members.

His contribution to the Club's social and cultural life is equally impressive. Vignesh was instrumental in organising the popular Vijay Prakash music shows at BGC on two occasions and has been involved in organising several major cultural events. He has also successfully organised private golf events at BGC, JWGC and MDGC.

Away from golf, music occupies a special place in Vignesh's life. A passionate music enthusiast and a good multilingual singer, he brings to the Club the same enthusiasm and energy that characterise his approach to golf and community involvement.

Over the years, Vignesh has come to represent something that every golf club values - a member who doesn't merely play the game, but actively contributes to the life of the Club. Whether competing for BGC, helping organise a tournament, anchoring a major celebration, providing live commentary, or simply sharing his love of music, he has been an energetic and enthusiastic presence in the BGC community.

For Vignesh, it would seem, golf is much more than a game. It is competition, camaraderie, participation, and above all, a way of being an active part of the community he values.

KRISHAA NICHANI

From Player to Referee - Seeing Golf Through Two Lenses

For Krishaa Nichani, golf began at the age of 13. Like most young golfers, she initially saw the game purely through the eyes of a player, learning to strike the ball, navigate the course and compete. But as her involvement in competitive golf grew, so did her curiosity about the game beyond the scorecard.

Travelling across India for tournaments exposed her to different courses, playing conditions and competitive environments. These experiences helped her develop not only as a golfer but also in discipline, patience and decision-making under pressure.

A defining moment came this year when she represented the BGC Ladies' team at the 28th Interclub. The team made history by defeating the KGA Ladies' team for the first time, bringing home a memorable victory for Bangalore Golf Club.

But tournaments also sparked Krishaa's interest in what happened behind the scenes. She became fascinated by how officials dealt with questionable claims, interpreted the Rules and ensured that competition remained fair. That curiosity gradually evolved into a serious pursuit of golf officiating.

During 2023-24, Krishaa completed her R&A Level 1 and Level 2 Rules certifications, undertaking several months of intensive study covering the Rules, definitions, clarifications and Committee Procedures. Level 2 required a minimum score of 85%.

The next step was considerably more demanding. Level 3 TARS (Tournament Administrators and Referees seminar) is invitation-based, with selected officials nominated by the Indian Golf Union. The programme requires advanced knowledge of the Rules, course set-up and marking, and tournament administration, together with extensive practical experience.

Krishaa completed the mandatory 120 hours of practical refereeing at zonal and national amateur tournaments. In June 2025, she successfully completed both the theoretical and practical requirements to become an R&A-certified Level 3 referee.

Her achievement was remarkable not only for the qualification itself but also for her age. The Indian Golf Union recognised her as the youngest TARS-qualified official in India and possibly the world. Her achievement was subsequently recognised by the India Book of Records as the youngest to clear the Level 3 TARS certification, at the age of 19, truly a remarkable feat.

Since qualifying, Krishaa has travelled extensively across India, officiating at elite amateur tournaments conducted by the Indian Golf Union, as well as corporate tournaments and golf leagues.

What makes her journey particularly distinctive is that she continues to be a competitive golfer while simultaneously serving as a referee. The two roles have complemented each other. Being a player gives her an understanding of the pressures and perspectives of competitors, while officiating has deepened her appreciation of the Rules, course management and the principles of competitive golf.

It has also changed the way she sees a golf course. Details of course marking and set-up that might go unnoticed by most golfers now immediately catch her eye.

Most importantly, officiating has reinforced one of golf's fundamental principles for Krishaa, fairness without favour. Golf has taught her discipline, patience and decision-making; refereeing has added the equally important qualities of objectivity, impartiality and integrity.

For Krishaa, the journey is far from over. She intends to continue developing as a competitive golfer while pursuing her growth as a Rules official, with the ambition of contributing to the sport at an even higher level.

From a 13-year-old discovering golf as a player to one of the youngest Level 3 TARS-qualified referees, Krishaa's journey is a fascinating reminder that golf has many dimensions, and that sometimes, seeing the game through two different lenses gives you a much deeper understanding of both the sport and yourself.

Srinivas K

The Man Behind the Tournament Experience

From Office Assistant to Head of the Tournament Department, Srinivas's journey at Bangalore Golf Club is a story of dedication, learning and the people who helped him along the way.

Every successful golf tournament has a visible side - the players, the competition, the scores and the excitement. But behind every seamless tournament is an equally important team working quietly in the background, ensuring that everything comes together as it should.

At Bangalore Golf Club, Srinivas K, Head of the Tournament Department, is one of those people.

Srinivas joined BGC on 1 March 2013 as an Office Assistant. Three years later, recognising his dedication and commitment, he was promoted to Technical Assistant. His journey then took an interesting turn when he was given the opportunity to join the Tournament Department as an Assistant Starter.

That was more than just a change of role. It was the beginning of his deeper association with golf and tournament operations.

Starting as an Assistant Starter, Srinivas gradually learnt the many nuances of running a tournament - the planning, coordination, discipline and attention to detail required to ensure that members have a smooth and enjoyable golfing experience. Through hard work, curiosity and a willingness to learn, he steadily took on greater responsibilities and eventually rose to become Head of the Tournament Department.

Learning from those who came before
Srinivas is quick to acknowledge that his journey has been shaped by the people around him.

When he joined BGC, Mr. Girish, Mrs. Marlin, Mr. Ningraj and the late Mr. K. M. Srinivasa were among the senior staff members who guided him. He remembers them not merely as colleagues and seniors, but as teachers and mentors who patiently shared their knowledge and supported him through the early years of his career.

His learning continued in the Tournament Department, where Mr. Babu, the late Mr. Bharath Rao, Mr. Devaraj, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Appachu shared with him their experience and knowledge of golf and tournament operations.

For Srinivas, these relationships were an important part of his professional growth. Their lessons extended beyond the technical aspects of the job—they taught him the importance of responsibility, teamwork and commitment.

The encouragement of BGC members

Srinivas also credits the members of BGC for encouraging him and giving him opportunities to grow.

He expresses special gratitude to Mr. Ravikumar Raju, Mr. R. N. Shashank, Mr. Utpal Desai, Mr. Anand Srinivasan S. and Mr. Arjun P. Tallam for the encouragement and confidence they placed in him and for giving him opportunities to take on greater responsibilities at the Club.

Over the years, these interactions with members have also helped Srinivas understand that his role is ultimately about one thing - making the golfing experience better for every member.

More than a workplace

Ask Srinivas what BGC means to him, and his answer is simple - it is like a first home.

Having spent the better part of his working life at the Club, BGC has become deeply woven into his everyday life. The people he works with are no longer simply colleagues. In his words, they have become his brothers, sisters, friends and family.

That sense of belonging perhaps explains the quiet pride with which Srinivas speaks about his journey. From an Office Assistant in 2013 to heading one of the Club's most important operational departments, his career is a reminder that growth is often built one opportunity, one lesson and one responsibility at a time.

A journey of gratitude

Looking back, Srinivas feels fortunate to have been part of BGC for more than 13 years. He is grateful to the seniors who taught him, colleagues who supported him, members who encouraged him and the Club that gave him opportunities to grow. His journey also reflects something that is often overlooked in a Club environment - the quality of a member's experience depends not only on what is visible, but also on the dedication of the people working behind the scenes.

As Head of the Tournament Department, Srinivas now has the responsibility of passing on what he has learnt to the next generation of staff, just as his own mentors did for him.

For Srinivas, BGC is not simply a place of employment. It is a place where he has learnt, grown, built relationships and found a sense of belonging.

Bangalore Golf Club, he says, will always be his second family, and a very special part of his life.

Touch your conscience

SAME GAME. A DIFFERENT PERSPECTIVE.

A Golfer's Inner Voice.

Golf is a game played against oneself. No opponent. No referee. Just you, your clubs - and that inconvenient little voice inside your head.

Your conscience.

It keeps a better score than you do, remembers every shot and, unlike your caddie, is not easily persuaded by creative explanations like:

"The wind took it."

"I have been having this frozen shoulder."

"I was between clubs."

So, meet our new regular -

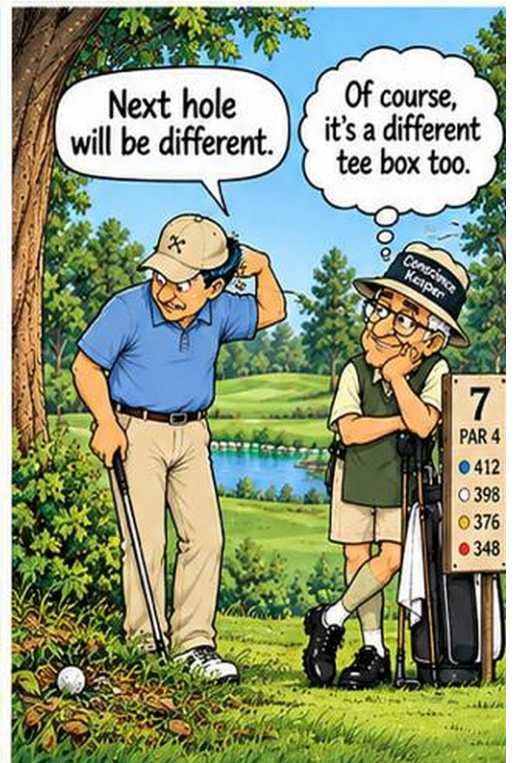

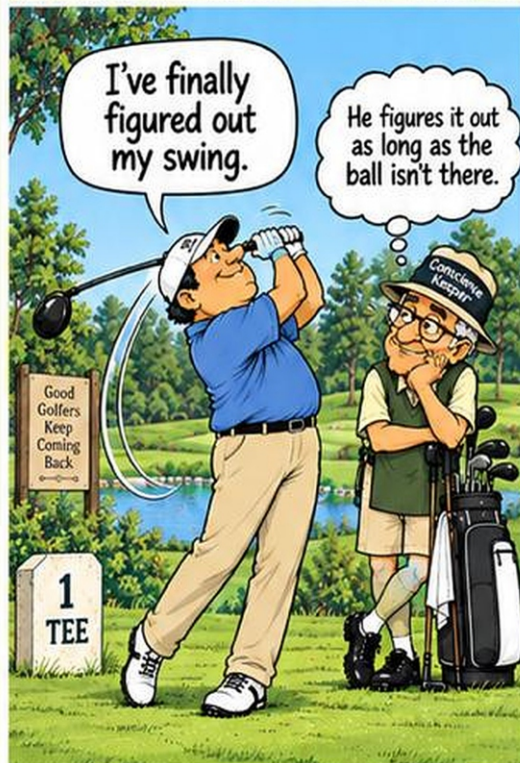

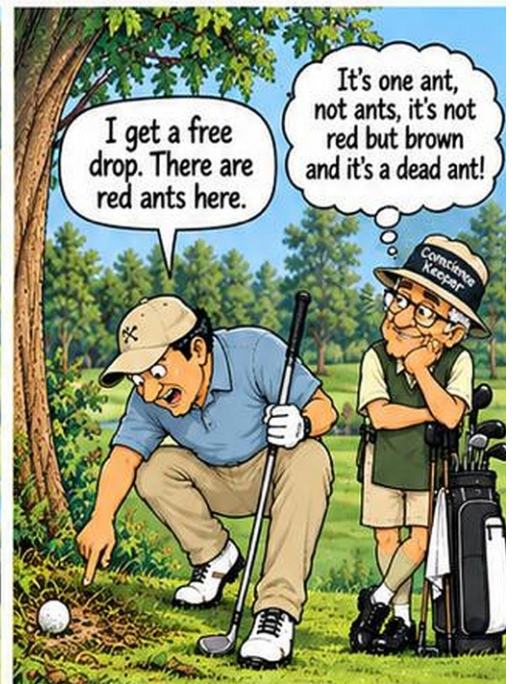

The Conscience Keeper, a veteran golfer. He watches, he listens and delivers his repartee. No sermon. No raised eyebrow. Just a perfectly straight face and a rather inconvenient truth.

In this feature, we'll bring you some of the more creative explanations heard on the course - with the Conscience Keeper having, naturally, the last word.

It's all in good fun. After all, golf is a game of honesty... with a surprisingly flexible definition of the word.

And dear reader, if you've heard a classic on the course, send it in. The Conscience Keeper has room on his scorecard.

Play fair.
At least with yourself.

Honesty is a great handicap

The Smart Approach to BGC Greens

Never Overshoot the Green

At Bangalore Golf Club (BGC), the golden rule of course management is simple: never overshoot the green.

Almost every green on the course presents severe trouble if your approach sails past the putting surface. Whether it is a steep run-off, thick collar grass, or a tricky recovery chip back toward a downslope, going long takes you out of position immediately.

Play Prudent, Play Short

Prudent play almost always dictates that you err on the shorter side. Leaving yourself slightly short of the flag gives you distinct advantages.

- 1 Keeps Par Alive: You avoid being completely out of position with all the trouble lurking directly behind the greens.
- 2 Helps keep big numbers off the scorecard: Makes swing it short of the green, at worst, you will walk away with a bogey. This can be a lot worse if you go over.
- 3 Sets Up Recovery: A controlled chip or putt from the front leaves you with a high-percentage look at saving par.
- 4 There is still chance for a Birdie: Who knows – if you catch your chip just right, you might even roll it in for an unexpected birdie!

Next time you stand over your approach shot at BGC, take one less club and let gravity and position work in your favor.
